*The quality of a father can be seen in the goals, dreams and aspirations
he sets not only for himself, but for his family.*

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK
*When you choose joy you feel good
And when you feel good, you do good
And when you do good it reminds others of what joy feels like
And it just might inspire them to do the same.*

VBS WORKDAY
There is a VBS Workday planned for this Monday, June 20 at 6 p.m. in the Fellowship Room. Anyone and everyone who can help, please show up and help! If you want to bring supplies that go along with our theme, that would be great! Thanks! Also, the building will be open Tuesday and Thursday evenings to work and decorate as well.
Please register for VBS online at

GRACE GIVERS

It’s been a while since we last talked about grace, although grace is something we need on a daily basis. Either we are extending it to others, or in need of receiving it; the fact of the matter is we can hardly make it through a day without the need of grace.

Personally, I see grace from a standpoint of perspective. Giving grace doesn’t communicate that I am better than someone else; what it says to me is that my memory is functioning as it should. The grace that I give is inspired by the grace I receive daily from God. I imagine sometimes we don’t give much thought to that, but we should. As we fully consider the holiness of the God as He extends grace to sinful humanity, it should produce a humbleness in us, because we know we don’t deserve it. It’s grace that allows us all to be human towards one another. In fact, when we refuse to give grace when needed, we are placing ourselves in a position that is greater than God. And at the same time, it forges our hearts into being incredible hypocrites. Allow me to explain. When I refuse to extend grace to my fellow humans, while asking and accepting grace from a holy and righteous God, that simple act denotes that I have a stubborn proud heart that will ultimately be responsible for my demise.

What makes grace difficult from a human standpoint is that it is always required by the undeserving. Giving a person what they deserve is justice, but grace goes beyond because it gives them what they don’t deserve. It’s when we do this that we emulate the heart of Jesus, which brings glory to our Heavenly Father. So, the next time you find yourself in a position where you need to be a grace giver, think about the grace given to you daily by God and cheerfully allow grace to flow from your heart. The world would be such a better place if we all would just give a little more grace

Blessings!

EXPRESSION OF SYMPATHY
We express our deepest sympathy to Donna (Heasty) Kramer on the death of her husband, Dennis Kramer. Please keep Donna and her family in your prayers.

MY DAD
*God took the strength of a mountain, the majesty of a tree,
the warmth of a summer sun, the calm of a quiet sea,
The generous soul of nature, the comforting are of night,
The wisdom of the ages, the power of the eagle’s flight,
The joy of a morning in spring, the faith of a mustard seed,
The patience of eternity, the depth of a family need,
Then God combined these qualities,
when there was nothing more to add,
He knew His masterpiece was complete,
And so, He called it—“Dad”
