FROM THE PREACHERS DESK
The radio blaring startled me awake. Just five more minutes, I told myself, as I banged around on the headboard and finally found the snooze button. Four times, I said, “just five more minutes” —only my snooze alarm is random—it goes off at intervals everywhere from five to nine minutes. Suddenly, it was 33 minutes later than I was supposed to get up and I was in a panic. The rest of the day was thrown off kilter because of just five more minutes. I haven’t decided if the snooze button is a great invention or a curse. I know it impacts me, because I’ll play mind games with it. I’ll set my alarm ten minutes early because I can “sneak” in a few extra minutes of sleep when it goes off. The quality of sleep isn’t very good, but it seems so much better because it is some sleep I’ve managed to “steal.” Truth be known, I would have slept better if I had set the alarm for the right time and simply got up with it. I wondered this morning how often God had been calling me and I hit my internal snooze button instead. Just wait a little longer God, just a little longer, just a little longer. Suddenly, I’m running way behind and I missed out on the opportunity to listen or to serve. God puts someone on my heart and says, “Give them a call” or “Drop them a note.” I reply, “Okay God, just as soon as I...”; and then it’s weeks later. I find out that in the interim, they had been going through a crisis time and really could have used some encouragement. We all do it, don’t we? I think I do it less now than I used to earlier in my Christian walk, but I’m far from perfect. I’m so glad that He is a loving, patient and merciful God. He’s used to people putting other things ahead of time with Him or in obedience to Him. Once when Jesus and His disciples were on their way, he came to a village where a woman named Martha opened her home to Him. She had a sister called Mary, who sat at the Lord’s feet listening to what He said. But Martha was distracted by all of the preparations that had to be made. She came to Him and asked, “Lord, don’t you care that my sister has left me to do all the work by myself? Tell her to help me!” The Lord answered, “Martha, Martha, you are worried and upset about many

BEATITUDES FOR FRIENDS OF THE AGED
Blessed are they who understand my faltering step
and my palsied hand.
Blessed are they who know my ears today must strain
to catch the things they say.
Blessed are they that seem to know that my eyes dim and my wits are slow.
Blessed are they who look away when coffee
was spilled at the table today.
Blessed are they with a cherry smile who stop to chat for a little while.
Blessed are they who never say,
“you’ve told that story twice today.”
Blessed are they who know the way to bring back memories of yesterday.
Blessed are they who make it known I’m loved,
respected and not alone.
Blessed are they who know I’m at a loss to find the strength to carry the cross.
Blessed are they who ease the days on my journey Home in loving ways.

things, but only one thing is needed. Mary has chosen what is better, and it will not be taken away from her” (Luke 10:38-42). Martha would have made time with the Lord only after the house was perfect. The disciples in the Garden of Gethsemane would have prayed with Jesus after a little nap (Matthew 26:36-43). When will you and I make time to listen and obey? Until next time, may we take the time with Him instead of playing games with life’s snooze alarm.
