FOLLOWING DOCTORS ORDERS
A pharmacist compounds and dispenses drugs “following doctors orders.” A physical therapist needs a “doctors prescription” to restore your mobility. Every nurse must “check the orders” on your chart before medication can be given. Is one prescription as good as another? Is one procedure of treatment as good as another? Is one medication administered as good as another?

(1) People can lose their license for failing to follow doctors orders.
(2) People can LOSE THEIR SOULS for failure to follow the orders of the Great Physician.
(3) When God gives a specific command, that eliminates every other option.

*God has vested “all authority” in Jesus Christ. (Matt. 28:18)
*Jesus prayed for religious unity and Paul said that denominating the body of Christ was bad. (John 17, I Corinthians 1)
*Jesus said to search the scriptures (John 5:39), believe them (John 8:24), repent (Luke 13:3), confess his sins (Matthew 10:32), and be baptized (Mark 16:16). We must live faithfully until we die (Revelation 2:10).

Will you follow doctor’s orders? Read Matthew 9:12-13. The choice is yours. Selected

FROM THE HEART OF THE PREACHER
The Time for Courage

In church history, there arises from time to time, seasons of persecution. We’ll look this week at the very first season of church persecution that began in Jerusalem when the church was only weeks old.

Peter heals a lame man, a crowd gathers, he preaches a sermon, and before the teaching is finished, he and John are surrounded, arrested, and put into jail for the night.

The next day when they are questioned, Peter is no shrinking violet. He is brave, articulate, and a picture of His master. Peter, now full of the Holy Spirit, has learned to imitate Jesus.

It’s a magnificent scene and I can’t wait to look at it together.

The early days of the church required great courage. Having no idea what consequences they would face, Jesus’ earliest followers proclaimed the truth of the gospel and braced themselves for whatever would follow.

I think that we’re entering into another period in the history of the church where the true followers of Christ will be separated from those who follow in name only. What will separate the true from the false? The same thing that has always separated the two, real persecution.

If that is something that is concerning to you, no worries. This week, Peter will show us the blueprint of how we can successfully navigate persecution for Jesus’ sake.

And remember, persecution is a normal part of following Jesus. Remember His words from John 15:20,

²⁰...If they persecuted Me, they will also persecute you...

Let’s learn to be ready to face whatever might come our way in the way that God intends. We don’t have to guess how; He shows us the way.

Much love!
